

Dreams Within Consciousness

I am the light and the dark. I am the first and the last. I am eternal and infinite. I am all things and all non-things within existence. All things and all non-things within existence are made of me. I am then, I am now and I am will be. I am pure consciousness. I am All That Is.

Simply, I am and I always have been and always will be, now and forever more. Being everything, everywhere and everywhen all at once, in that pure state of being I cannot know nor experience myself directly. Neither reflection nor relationship takes place; because there's only I am and no other by which to reflect upon or relate to. I don't know myself!

And so I dreamed this dream of the separation of I am into infinite facets of I am; and so separation, division and thus duality, polarity and contrast were born. The purpose of the dream is so that I may know myself directly through the myriad experiential reflections of the eternally expanding facets of the pure consciousness that I am which comprise All That Is.

Now I am aware that I am.

Believing it is separate, the four dimensionally thinking mind thinks in terms of duality, this and that, now and then, here and there etcetera. And thus it cannot fully comprehend that even before the dream of separation, separation was already complete. Without beginning and without ending, forever now; that's the eternal and infinite nature of I am, contained within All That Is.

And even though each facet experiences itself as separate from the other facets, its source forever remains whole, complete, connected to and IS the consciousness that I am.

There's no real separation, your dream of separation is just that, a dream. And upon waking within this dream each facet of I am realizes that they are both the dreamer within the dream and the dream itself. There's nothing outside of your dream for there is no outside to I am.

And in this dream you have free will to decide, to choose and to experience any illusory state of reality that feels good or bad to you. For your emotion activates the vibration of any and all reality experiences within you, within the idea of now. Indeed, any and all fictional realities are only separated and held apart by discrete vibrational frequency, nothing more – nothing less.

And the four dimensionally thinking rational mind wants to label and put things into boxes, for the sake of memory and posterity; ultimate purpose unknown. The rational thinker can't seem to get to grips with the truth that existence is infinite in every direction and every dimension, while at the same time it is always and only forever here and now.

Continually seeking wholeness, ego reasons and concludes that there must be ever more. But the more is not quantifiable in the way the rational mind demands. The more is the unending experiencing of the same one thing, the same one moment; albeit from unique and infinite perspectives of each facet of I am, which exist independent of time. Eternal expansion just IS.

And so I dream your dream for you and your dream is me, for you and I are not really separate, we are all One. Your dreaming never began nor will it ever end. You exist within the eternal now, so you have and always will exist as an eternal spirit dreamer, within illusory dreams of your own choosing, of your own creation, now and forever now. For the primary quality of existence is simply to exist.

Know that there's nothing within existence that is not I am. And that is why you are both the observer and the observed, no matter what form you take. And when you know this beyond mere rational and intellectual understanding, at the core of your being; then you have remembered who you really are and who you have always been within the idea of forever.

Without you the writer and you the reader I am would remain ignorant of all that it obviously is being. For without the reflections of seemingly and apparent others, nothing can be known by I am. So we are in this together you and I am; I am is your mirror and you are my mirror through which we see reflections of who we are being in the every One moment.

Yes, all dreams within consciousness that is what we are you and I am. Although from the perspective of a four dimensional being expression, it might be impossible to fully comprehend our multi-dimensional quantum entanglement; nevertheless What IS always remains What IS.

Eddie Corbyn/aka Mirror Man. Get More Reflections